

Alias Grace Park Opening

Town of Richmond Hill

Proud recipient of the 2010 PRO Excellence in Design Award

Saturday, May 29

11:30 a.m. – 2 p.m.

Alias Grace Park is located between Aladdin Crescent and Ridgestone Drive, northwest of Yonge Street and Brookside Road.

Take a step back in time and enjoy the literary and historical theme of Alias Grace Park!

Enjoy fun and free activities for the whole family!

The Park's Opening Ceremonies will take place at 12 p.m.

Old-fashioned family story & craft time - make your very own story quilt! Courtesy of the Richmond Hill Public Library.

Play games from the past! Children can try three-legged potato sack races, bean bag tossing and tug of war!

Love ice cream? See how it's made and sample some of this tasty treat (while quantities last). Courtesy of the Town of Richmond Hill Heritage Services Section.

A glimpse of history – view a wonderful display of local artifacts! Some of which were used by Margaret Atwood in her research for her novel Alias Grace.

Explore the unique qualities of the Park's design. Imagery from the book Alias Grace can be found throughout the Park in the form of pavements, sculptures, plantings and site furnishings.

Enjoy art demo and show provided by talented local artists!

Learn something new with Outdoor Education!

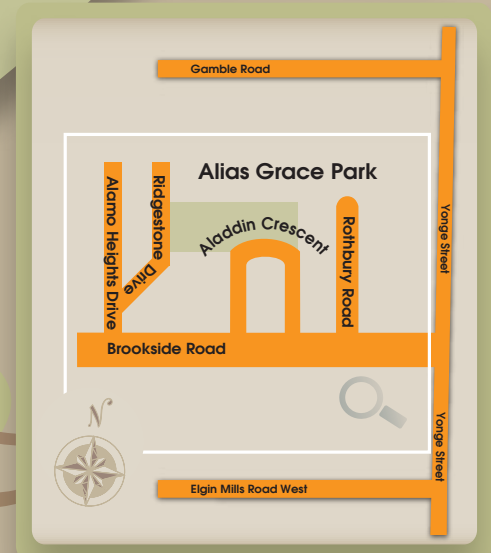

Enjoy a delicious old-fashioned boxed lunch picnic (free while quantities last). Sponsored by...

Parking will be available along the following streets:

- Aladdin Crescent
- Ridgestone Drive
- Brookside Road
- Rothbury Road
- Brookgreene Crescent

Parked vehicles cannot obstruct through traffic, fire routes, fire hydrants, sidewalks, driveways and any or all other signed prohibited areas.

For additional information, please contact Special Event Services at (905) 771-8800 or visit <http://www.richmondhill.ca/aliasgracepark>

